Hematopathology First Exam – September 2016

The American Board of Pathology is changing the name of the Pathology-Hematology certificate to Hematopathology. The first exam administered under the new certificate name was held in September. This name change will not affect historical certificates.

The records with the Hematopathology sub-specialty will be available in December 2016 or January 2017. Once we receive them you will be able to search BCD by selecting Hematopathology from the Sub Certification drop down menu on the Advanced Search page. The results will include records with Hematopathology OR Pathology-Hematology certificates. You will receive the same results when selecting Pathology-Hematology from the Sub Certification drop down menu.

Please note:

- Your search results may be different if you select a board or certification from those fields on the Advanced Search page in addition to the sub-specialties referenced above.
- Searching on the sub-specialty Hematology will only produce results for records with that certificate name. Again these results may be different if you choose to add a board or certification to your search.
New Webinars

Our Search Results and Alerts webinars are the newest additions to our recorded webinar series. They are posted on the BCD home page under the User Tools tab. Take a few minutes today to learn about these features or get some tips about components you may have overlooked.

- Learn how to navigate the Search Results page effectively. There are many options and different ways to use the search results.
- Our Alerts feature is FREE as part of your subscription. Learn how to set up email notifications to help you manage automatic notifications about updates for multiple profiles and your search results lists.
